The Problem statement

The education system today often emphasises outdated curricula and decontextualised theoretical knowledge over real-world skills, leaving graduates unprepared for the demands of the job market.

Schools are training students from a young age in skills that have no use in the market in the future. 3 million people who join India's workforce each year, only one in four management professionals, one in five engineers, and one in 10 graduates are employable.

– World Economic forum 2025

The Indian education system faces several core problems

- Outdated Curriculum and rigid system.
- Lack of Focus on 21st-Century Skills.
- Rote Learning and retard teaching methods.
- Lack of Practical Trainings and tech. integration.
- Overemphasis on Examinations.
- Lack of Infrastructure and PTR.
- Least focus on Mental Health and Wellbeing.
- Inaccessibility

How do we solve it?

The fastest growing skills by 2030 will include technological skills alongside human skills, such as cognitive skills and collaboration. Collective action in the public, private and education sectors is urgently needed to address the growing skills gap.

✗ हर बच्चे की अलग ज़रूरतें होती हैं, लेकिन स्कूल में पर्सनल गाइडेंस मिलना मुश्किल होता है।

✗ स्कूलों में करियर काउंसलिंग और स्किल डेवलपमेंट की कमी होती है, जिससे बच्चे सिर्फ किताबों तक सीमित रह जाते हैं।

✗ अतिरिक्त मदद के लिए ठ्यूशन का सहारा लेना पड़ता है, लेकिन वो भी हर बच्चे की व्यक्तिगत ज़रूरतों को पूरा नहीं कर पाती।
